ORIENTAL LOVE™

► THE USUAL SUSPECTS:

Leonard T & Glow have often been sought after by the local music industry for their specialized talents and technical expertise in electronic dance music. Between the both of them, they've written, produced and recorded for many renowned local artistes, and even remixed for Italian techno act Datura (Leonard T's 2002 remix of "Infinity").

Fate deemed it necessary for Leonard T & Glow to eventually get themselves acquainted with Jason Chow, a veteran industry player and extremely popular radio / club DJ in Singapore.

For many years, Jason Chow (through his radio shows and DJ club events) has played the essential protagonist to the enduring Euro-Beat / Trance sound in Singapore. So it was inevitable that he'd be the one to conceptualize, put together and spearhead The Usual Suspects, a mainstream techno band featuring various singers that garnered a strong fan following almost overnight. Their secret recipe? A tight studio production, dynamic drum rhythms, hands-in-the-air synthesizer riffs, great vocals, poignant lyrics... and brazen uplifting melodies!

The Usual Suspects' musical influences are also very much rooted in the 80's new wave electro sound, and it shows. Combining modern production techniques with old school synth-pop ideologies, they've managed to carve a unique sound that's truly eminent. Now with a 2nd album release that's once again chock full of hits, The Usual Suspects have laudably established themselves as the dance darlings of radio.

Maia's personal 'thank you's':
Big-Ty! I thank heavens for you my lil' love. Patrick. I hold you dear, I love you.
Most thanks to Glow, Leonard & Jason for giving me this chance to work with you. I had fun! To Ros, Kel, Biru, you were always there ;) I'll work hard mamma!
