

Title : SAMURAI

Composer : Dixie L.R.Ferdinands

Lyricist : Dixie L.R.Ferdinands

Another misty morning, open my eyes, look to the eastern skies,
Your face comes my mind, I'm walkin' alone, I might have known from the start,
We were never meant to be a part, I can feel the pain in my heart,

I'm livin' for today, there's no time to borrow, who knows what tomorrow may bring,
I have to face the sorrow, being what I am, don't try to understand, but it's true
You don't realise just what I am, this world that moves around me,
Makes it so hard to be,

A Samurai, we can reach for the sky, you and I, together we'll fly,
For your honour glory, I'd give my life, 'cause I love you, but you'll never know.

Samurai, see the rising sun, you and I, girl there's nowhere to run,
Come tomorrow I'll be leavin,' my life is in your hands, still I love you,
But you'll never know.

Girl just look in my eyes, see my disguise, feel the fire burnin' in my heart,
Take the hand of this Samurai, we've got to make a start someday,

The night is dark and lonely, geisha girls surround me, still I never let you leave my mind,
For reasons all around me, I feel the way I do, only 'cause of you, pour the wine,
Sippin' sake makes me lose my mind, everything around me makes it so hard to be,

A Samurai, we can touch the sky, you and I, together we'll fly,
For your honour and glory, I'd give my life, cause I love you,
But you'll never know,

Samurai, see the rising sun, you and I, girl there's nowhere to run,
Come tomorrow I'll be leavin, my life is in your hands,
Still I love you, but you'll never know,

Girl just look in my eyes, see my disguise, feel the fire burnin' in my heart,
Take the hand of this Samurai, We've got to make a start someday.