

Title : Come

Composer : 黄烈传 / Carolyn Rose Christenson

Lyricist : Carolyn Rose Christenson

When I think I just can't squeeze in one more detail one more task
When I'm spinning round in circles trying not to run so fast
When I'm looking everywhere to find a head that understands
You will always come and find me and you take me by the hand

And (You) say come my child oh come Let me lead you to your home
Come and rest in me a while Let me help you find your smile

Every time I think my world just can't get any more confused
And I contemplate just giving up and turning myself loose
When the water I've been walking on gives way beneath my feet
And I find that I am desperate to regain my sanity

Clinging to your hand my eyes squeezed tight with fear
I listen to you tell me just to breathe
Heartbeats slowing down the world begins to clear
And the peace that fills my soul is all I need