

Title : Smiles of Regret

Composer : Leonard Ng

Lyricist : Leonard Ng

Time has forgotten and so have we
A love lies an orphan across the sea
We know the cost of everything and where we've been
But the value of nothing creates this scene

Well the wine has been poured and the table is set
The places are taken and grace has been said
We drink and we promise we'll never forget
And everyone smiles, but the smiles are the ones of regret

She smiles and says, "What beauty! You can smell the fields!"
It comes to us on TV, so it must be real
Its "Nature" so we buy it to escape the crowds
But we come across the quiet and we think it's loud
