

Title : As You Crucify

Composer : Leonard Ng

Lyricist : Leonard Ng

"Come to me," you said, "you're free,
You want to be close to me,
Protected"
As if you knew just what to do
And even what you said was true was Corrected
Your stone walls
Decide our bitter fate on the Sidewalk
Sidewalk

Pick a day, any day
It doesn't matter anyway
It's far gone;
You own it all, you want it all it doesn't matter who will fall
War torn,
But some day,
A vision will be found on the Sidewalk
Sidewalk

While you set the world on fire
With flames that can't be seen
Open your eyes
Open your eyes;
With a furnace door unopen
To a conscience never clean
Open your eyes
As you crucify.

You kill a man and blame it on a foreign land
It's easy
His wife and child, they will not smile,
Not for a long, long while
Believe me
But some day
An answer will be found on the Sidewalk

Sidewalk

You can't explain the things you take
The wars you make,
the truth you fake
It's hard enough to know you don't try
You shoot it down
You spin around without a sound
As if it's not there
