

Title : Lonely Again
Composer : Don Ferdinands
Lyricist : Don Ferdinands, Karen Ferdinands

Verse 1

You see it in her eyes, you hear it in her lies.
She says that she still loves you and that she'll never hurt you.
But then you see her leaving and your poor heart is grieving.
Then you'll know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.
And then you'll know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.

Verse 2

You know why she is calling, you feel your whole world falling.
She says that you're mistaken, just your imagination.
But you know she is lying and your poor heart is crying.
Then you'll know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.
Because you know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.

Verse 3

But then you see she's faking and your poor heart is breaking.
Then you'll know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.
And then you'll know, you'll be lonely, lonely again.
